

Plain and simple, its my right to get the weather when I need it and no matter where I travel its only a channel away. I chose this service for the quality and convenience of the product. I hope the NAB understands people still listen to radio, its just on the listeners terms. It sounds like they can't handle the competition and are losing precious money in their pocket. Maybe they need to step up FM performance and features in their business instead of just soaking up the money.
